

Personality Disorder Training for General Practice

Improve your team's confidence when working with patients with complex emotional issues – for all staff both clinical, managerial, administrative and reception.

Training covers:

- Recognising presenting features of personality disorder, and how it impacts on relationships with professionals
- Responding effectively to patients presenting in crisis
- Improving how your team can support each other
- Understanding what services exist for patients and how they access them

Training is delivered by a multidisciplinary team of:

- GP with special interest in personality disorder
- Specialist trainer with expertise in personality disorder
- Trainers with lived experience of personality disorder

Training is delivered free of charge (funding from Health Education England)

- Funding initially for 20 practices to be trained in the Thames Valley region during Oct 2019 - Sept 2020

Practices will need to:

- Apply (Applications open 17 June—1 July)
- Book 1 x 4 hour training session or 2 x 2hour training sessions
- Identify practice leads

"A HUGE thank you - the team are actively talking about the session, how much they enjoyed it and how much they got from it"
